
CityWalk - ERDF project partner:

Varna Free University "Chernorizets Hrabar"

Varna Free University has one of the best campuses in Bulgaria and many of the lecturers are considered leading experts in their field both nationally and internationally. University offers studies at the bachelor's, master's and PhD level in the field of international business, architecture and building science, psychology, economy, finance, entrepreneurship, computer science, etc.

Varna Free University is located in North-East portion of city of Varna which is an ancient city, known as „sea capital of Bulgaria“. The archaeological discoveries near Varna produced the oldest gold artefacts in the world, carbon dated from 6000 BC. The central part of the city has well developed pedestrian only areas, however considering the ambitious plans to cater for tourists from the European countries, there is still much to be desired in terms of traffic regulations, mass transit networks and bicycle routes throughout the city centre.

Varna Free University "Chernorizets Hrabar" goals in CityWalk project are creating a common vision for improved pedestrian network together with general public and connecting the pedestrian flow with public transport system with emphasis on connections with peripheral centres and bicycle routes network. Together with Varna Municipality, the University will try to implement a pilot project in selected area to test drive the concepts of City Walk project.

Varna Free University will provide to the project partners the scientific back up and project design capabilities in working together with Varna Municipality. They will also widespread information campaign amongst Varna citizens and involve their students in active participation in all events during the project life.
