Regional Development Agency of the Pilsen Region

Regional Development Agency of the Pilsen Region (RRA) is a non-profit public body with more than 15 years tradition. It belongs to a network of development agencies, which operate in every region of the Czech Republic.

RRA aims are in continuous regional development – hence they pursue not only economic growth but also the social aspects. RRA analyzes the current situation and proposes changes in areas that relate to peoples' everyday life in the Pilsen Region. Their services are varied. Mainly they provide clients with concepts and strategies, expert studies and analytical data, projects preparation and management, search of funds and financial resources, coordination and cooperation. Regional Development Agency of the Pilsen Region supports public and non-profit organizations - they provide services mostly to the Pilsen Region Authority, cities and municipalities. They also work with schools, research and non-profit bodies, ministries, in part with private entities.

RRA will contribute to CityWalk project with elaboration of base-line study (analyzing the best practice e.g. from Czech Republic, Germany, Switzerland), definition the parameters for walkability related to public transit and elaboration of "Good Practice Catalogue". Their aims related to the project CityWalk are collaboration by developing the walkability plans implementable in any town and subsequent testing the methodology by designing the local walkability plan for City of Stříbro.
